Stat. Dec. sealed was served to the court on & before the 14th January 2013 in several various ways one of which was by hand to the Judge on the day he acted outside his jurisdiction thereby becoming disheveled of his corporate protection making him liable personally for his actions.

The Judge was asked had he read the various documents handed to the court to which he replied YES which was documented upon the transcript that was released.

claim £1,030,000 pounds

No court can make judgment in its own cause... it is anathema to justice. We claim that the High Court has no legitimacy... because it fails to uphold the rule-of-law and has resorted instead to the rule-of-force (coercion) to impose its claimed authority.

Legitimate authority derives from consent not coercion.

The court must address the issues raised or the authority of the court evaporates. The issues are not going to go away and more and more people will challenge the court until addressed.

Challenging the authority of government and the legitimacy of the judiciary is a democratic right where questions of propriety arise
